Swap Shop: Creative classroom ideas

Maintaining learner motivation is a challenge that we all face in our daily teaching and it is easy to use the same tried and tested material time and time again. As a result we sometimes feel our creativity wane. This Swap Shop will offer you the opportunity to share your 'go to' activities and to learn about the materials and approaches that other teachers use in their classroom. We may learn about new ideas which other colleagues find useful for successful learning, or be reminded of an activity we haven't used in a while. A simple idea that worked for you might spark inspiration or creativity in another teacher. If you are looking for something new to stimulate your class preparation, another teacher may already have a solution you can try.

Suggested themes:

- Activities for English for Specific Purposes
- Teaching pronunciation
- Improving vocabulary learning and retention
- Creative activities that promote group dynamics
- Using photographs, books and films in the classroom
- Activities to improve speaking
- Ideas for a paperless (or reduced paper) classroom
- Any other activity

You are invited to bring at least one activity to exchange with the group.

The Swap Shop will have a dynamic approach where everyone will have a chance to contribute.

The materials will be shared, with permission, to attendees after the event.
